

Transcript: Grandparent Advisers

Narrator

Sometimes people such as grandparents care for children when parents aren't able to.

We have a national grandparent adviser service that provides extra support to those who need it.

Grandparent advisers tailor information about our payments and services for your situation.

They can also arrange appointments for you and refer you to community support services.

This service is free and confidential so if a child has entered your care and you need extra support, visit our website to see if this service is right for you.

humanservices.gov.au/grandparentadvisers